Hi Cristina

If you want to make enquiries with Mel. Maybe just hold off auctioning the PRAI extraction until Will is back from holidays. I know it is a big job for yourself and Mel normally.

Many thanks,

Hi Patricia,

Thanks for that,

I am checking it right now. In order to amend the boundary of the national park, I think it will be better to ask PRAI for the Shapefiles of this lands that NPWS owns.

As the PDF maps will have to be georeferenced there will be errors up to 1 meter (best scenario), and once the boundary will be 'finished' we will have to redo this part properly again.

I am going to check how many folios will be included in the request and maybe ask Mel to create an application. After that I will create a record of this area as conclusive boundary.

Many thanks!

Kind Regards,

Cristina

Hi all,

I have modified the scale of the PDF published maps of all 6 national parks from 1:5000 to 1:25000. (1 mm -> 25 m)
I think that the scale 25000 will suffice the accuracy of 20 metres that for now we are looking for.
There is also a caveat that confirm that the boundary is an approximation of the legal one.

Could you check if something needs to be modified?

Hi all,

During last week the information regarding Wicklow National park has been migrated from Map Portal to ArcGIS Online (Ireland's Heritage Data)
So, the Wicklow Mountains National Park Boundary Viewer is now accessible in the following link:
https://heritagedata.maps.arcgis.com/apps/webappviewer/index.html?id=26fe8812ea034a78bc3920b89f359693

For accessing to this platform you will need to use your user (ending in _heritagedata) and password. This credentials were included in an email that you get a couple of weeks ago, but in case you didn't you can change your password in the following link:

Once you logged in you will be able to access the group National Parks Boundary Review, which contains the Wicklow Mountains National park boundary Viewer
The mobile app ArcGIS Collector is also enabled now you can record site data if needed.
https://play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=com.esri.collector&gl=IE

Please find attached two PDF documents that cover the features of the apps. The documents included are just for reference and maybe links to another Web apps are included, however all of them work the same and have the same commands.

Let me know if you have any further questions,

Kind regards,

Cristina

Hiya Ian

Your so right, currently this is what we are using as a general guide, and it's wrong. The boundary runs along the white road and should run further north. This is such a general map I don't think we need to worry too much about exact boundries, it would be great to get something professional looking!

Thanks Hugh,

There is a data set for the NRs, I at least have a shape file on my arcgis, as should anyone who ive set up. The park boundary is in the process of being updated by PRU and GIS unit. Any sharing of datasets have to go through either of those units. In the past I would have sent them on to people in the past but because they are not very reliable HQ aren't keen on sharing them, hence they need to sign off on sharing especially for mapping purposes.

I will keep yee updated on the park boundary update, we should sit down to discuss at some time. It would be beyond the students to do anything meaningful on this even if they were GIS experts.

I'll be contacting this person to upload whatever we have to the geo data site (checked it out...looks to be actually Google).
I don't believe that we have an authoritative map of the park...or the NNRs?

Andy has mentioned that there's an issue with Google's directions to Knocksink, and of course there's the famous one into the Derrybawn tracks coming from █████████

Are there other idiosyncrasies that you're aware of?
Also do you know what needs to happen for an up-to-date digitised version of the NP and NNRs to be created?
Beyond the scope of our students?

Hello Wicklow Mountains National Park Team,

Hope this email finds you well. By way of a brief introduction - I look after partnerships for Google Maps.

It's been brought to our attention that a certain part of the park may not be showing up correctly on Google Maps.

We're keen to resolve this as soon as possible.

To help us rectify any issue(s) would you kindly be able to provide us with an authoritative map of the park via our Geo Data Upload Tool.

On a separate note, I believe some of your rangers have tried to request some correction(s) in the past? Have I understood this correctly?

If so - could you perhaps provide me with a bit more colour on how they tried to do this? I'm keen to assess whether there's any learnings for us.
Please don't hesitate to let me know if you have any questions.

Look forward to hearing from you - and thank you for your feedback and support.

Best wishes,

Hi Will,

I think it probably was the basis for what's on the map viewer. Paul was involved when we purchased land from the Waterford estate, that's all included on the mapviewer to the best of my knowledge. He was a CR and then worked on contract here while studying to be a surveyor. The project he worked on then was a Boundary and Access signage project. It primarily related to marking our boundary in the field at points where the public would commonly access our lands, so we didn't have to worry much about internal boundary issues with this project.

Might be no harm for me to have a quick chat next week, so I can be reminded on how to work my way around the map viewer and how best to record boundary issues. I know we covered this previously but as I didn't tackle it straight away I could do with a quick refresher...

Thanks,

Damian.

Thanks Damian,
We can give it to early September if it will give you more time to have a look at how the PRAI boundaries compare with the shapefiles?

Can I also ask, I was speaking with Gar John the other day and he mentioned that there might be a shape file drawn up by Paul Duffy who I believe was a CR in the region some time ago that might be a fairly accurate boundary. Can you let me know if you know anything about that exercise and if you have a copy of the shape file? I presume this is not the boundary we have on the mapviewer?

Hi Damian

I was wondering if you are you free any day next week to discuss the Wicklow National Park mapviewer. I know that Wesley is on leave until the end of August.

Please note that Cristina has recently imported PRAI boundaries onto the mapviewer last week. You can use the 'PRAI NP Plan Geometries' can compare these with the draft boundaries on mapviewer and decide whether to accept the PRAI boundary as acceptable for now.
